This leaves very quiet the headquarters of the democratic congressional committee, which are located in the democratic committee rooms at the capitol. So much elated are the managers over the Ohio election that they have ceased sending out documents and gone home, leaving a young man in charge to answer questions. He to-day declared that thirty democratic majorto-day declared that thirty democratic majority in the next house would be ample, and that the democrats claim to be sure of that number. On the other hand, great activity reigns at Jay Hubbell's rooms on F. street. Numerous clerks are employed and tons of documents are steadily sent out. The treasurer is busy down stairs. Mr. Hubbell and Secretary Henderson labor industriously on the second floor in a room whose most conspicuous ornaments are a card bearing "no spicuous ornaments are a card bearing "no conundrums answered here," and a poster with the words "Maine, Oregon, Vermont." Secretary Chandler is now overseeing the operations of this committee and infusing great deal of life into its work. Conceding the loss of some districts in the north, Mr. Chandler expects to make considerable gains in the south, and thus retain the control of congress. Whether the inaction of the demo-cratic committee or Hubbell's injurious activand thus retain the control of crafic committee or Hubbell's injurious activity will help their respective parties more, is as yet an unsolved problem.

THE PROMOTION OF COLONEL MCKENZIE.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—Colonel R. S.
McKenzie, who was lately appointed a brigardier general, is a nephew of John Slidell, who took so prominent a part in Louisiana politics. Slidell's name was McKenzie, but when he left New York and settled in Louisiana he changed his name to Slidell.

Colonel McKenzie's father was a captain in Louisiana he changed his name to Slidell. Colonel McKenzie's father was a captain in the navy. Captain McKenzie acquired great notoriety in 1842 by ordering a midshipman on board his vessel, the United States brig Somers, by the name of Spencer, hung from the vardarm. Midshipman Spencer was a son the then secretary of the navy. His crin. was that he was a leader in a mutiny. This act of Captain (subsequently commodore) McKenzie excited great comment at the time. The brig Somers was capsized and lost while The brig Somers was capsized and lost while blockading the harbor of Vera Cruz during the Mexican war, before the capture of that city by our forces. TO BE DISCIPLINED. WASHINGTON, November 1.- Judge Advocate General Swaim is preparing an opinion in an swer to Secretary Lincoln's query whether an army officer who habitually refuses to pay his debts is not liable to court-martial for con-duct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. He will take strong grounds in giving an affirmative answer, which is expected to be the basis for a stricter discipline among certain line officers, whose delinquencies in this di-rection have become glaring. Were it not for the fact that such conduct has not preju diced an officer's standing in the army, such a decission would seem unnecessary. This is only another evidence of Secretary Lincoln's intention to reform some of the orienses which have grown up in the army.

BRADY AND DORSEY TO BE TRIED.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The star route people do not think that the second trial of the case against Brady and Dorsey, which is the case against Brady and Dorsey, which is set for December, will be heard until after the pending bribery cases have been concluded, and on this account they are seeking every possible means of delay, hoping that the trial may go over until the spring term, when Judge Wylie will no longer hold the criminal court. The prosecuting officers say that the second trial will not be postponed for any such reasons, and over 200 subponaes have already been issued for witnesses on behalf of the government at that trial.

INGERSOLL'S DEFENSE.

He Claims that the Gevernment's Testimony 8 His Own. Washington, November 1.—Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll has been interviewed upon special counsel Wells' report in the star route bribery cases. Colonel Ingersoll says: "I have read the report and am very much obliged to Wells for making it. He has corroborated my statement in many particulars, and has furnished so much evidence in favor of its absolute truth that I feel under certain abligations to him. I that I feel under certain obligations to him. I charged that Fall was employed by the govment at $10 a day. Wells admits it. That Nelson was employed at $50 a month; Wells admits it. That both of these men were hired because Fall said he and Nelson had bribed Brown in a former case; Wells admits this. I also charged that Fall employed Foote, and that Foote brought Payne to Fall, and that Fall got Payne to of fer Brown $2,500 for his vote. Wells admit this. The only difference between Wells' statement and my own up to this point, is as to the form of the written agreement that Fall wrote for Brown to sign. All the evidence taken together, without one shadow of doubt Fall was employed by the department of justice, and that in the interest of his employer, Fall endeavored to corrupt Brown. A CORRUPT OFFICER.

It is admitted by the department of justice that Fall not only made improper proposals to jurymen but that he carried his impudence to the extent of making an improper proposal to the department of justice. Wells substantially admitted that Fall did go to Holmead and tell him that all the other jurors were under the ban of suspicion, and that he (Holmead) was the only inpur, in whom the attorney general had any confidence. Hol-mead did not regard this conversation as an attempt to bribe him and so stated, but, as a matter of fact, to approach a juror in that way is just as reprehensible as to offer him money. It is infamous. The real question money. It is infamous. The real question and the only question really, in the case is whom was. Fall acting for? Was he acting for the government or for the defense? Suppose it turned out that the defendants were paying Fall ten dollars a day and the department of justice nothing, would it be possible to make any human being believe that he was acting for the department of justice? It is admitted that the department paid him ten dollars a day, and the supposition is that he was at work for his employes, and without som positive testimoney to the contrary, we are compelled to believe that he did what he did for the department of justice. He says he was engaged by the department, and worked for the department; that it was his business to find whether any jurors had been ap-proached, and whether any jurors could be proached, and whether any jurors could be approached; and no objection was made by the department to that kind of business.

(Holmead) was the only juror in whom the

GOVERNMENT PLANS DIVULGED. GOVERNMENT PLANS DIVELOR.

It has been charged a hundred times that after Fall was discharged on the 17th of July he was re-employed under the name of F. Hill, and that he was paid $800 for information. tion furnished in a criminal prosecution, and that he received the money under the name of F. Hill. On the 24th of October Fall beg somewhat uneasy ip his mind, wrote a tter to Nelson as follows: "I am told that he government will abandon meand say that It ried to bribe the jury for the defense, and also that you and I bribed Brown in the Long case. I do not believe you gave Brown a cent, and will stand by fou if it comes to the worst. Should the government abandon me, I shall expect your earnest support, and you may be assured that I shall not let you suffer for any thing you have done for the government through me. If the government ar-rests me it will be an act of persecution, as you well know, and I must fight to the bitter end. I did what was done for the government." I am content after this to leave the public to decide whether Fall was employed by the department of justice or by the deendants. There is a "secret service fund" have been fulminated against jurors for the purpose of the inauguration of such a reign of terror in this district that the next jury will be afraid to acquit. No greater outrage was ever perpetrated in this district than the arrest of William Dickson, an arrest based wholly upon the affidavit of Bowen, the very wan who endeared to endeared to endeared. man who endeavored to corrupt him. The department of justice indorsed Bowen by ar-resting Dickson. That department was so ashamed at first at having appointed Bowen that it agreed to throw the responsibility of his appointment upon Secretary Lincoln, but now accepted Bowen as a truthful and competent witness, and with his testimony is willing to wreck the reputation of an honest man. No American can read the report of Wells without feeling humiliated the admitted action of the department justice. The department of justice uld not act the detective or spy or tempte and when the department is charged with having acted illegally and improperly it should not investigate itself, but it should open wide its doors and records and invite the scrutiny of the world.

SEGUIN'S TRIPLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

The Tragedy Enacted in the Fifth Story-Tl e Broth s Alarm-Hunting for the Missing-Hew the Bodies Were Pound-The Result of the Coroner's Inquest, Etc., Etc.

NEW YORK, November 1.-The murder of her three children and the subsequent suicide of Mrs. Seguin is without parallel in some of its phases. Mrs. Seguin had been despondent from physical causes for some time, but she had shown no evidence of insanity. She was a small, slim woman, of nervous temperament. Her domestic life was very happy, and there was no family trouble. Dr. Seguin returned home about 7 o'clock, and upon hearing the dreadful news was utterly prostrated. He is in a state of mental distress and under the care of a physician. Dr. Seguin is a noted specialist in cases of insanity, and his father specialist in cases of insanity, and his father was equally noted. His wife was the daughter of a Massachusetts farmer. The couple moved in the best society. The family lived in a five-story brown-stone front. English basement, house elegantly furnished. The room in which the tragedy took place is on the fifth floor, and is scarcely ever used by the family. The three servants in the house noticed during the day that Mrs. Seguin was moody, a condition she had been in for several weeks and which her brother, Dr. Amiden, termed the "blues." About 11 o'clock he called upon her and she said she did not feel well and had written to Dr. Henry Draper, who had been invited to dine with the family whom he visited. This note she asked her brother to send. He took it jokingly and har brother to send. He took it jokingly and told her they would all enjoy themselves. Dr. Amiden called on his sister at 3, and was old she had gone out for a walk. He returned at 5, but Mrs. Seguin had not yet returned. The hall boy incidentally mentioned that the door of the spare room was locked and the key A HORRIBLE SUSPICIO

A horrible suspicion seized the doctor that Mrs. Seguin had gone to Central Park and drowned herself and the children. He could not explain why he thought this. He immediately went up stairs and barst the door of the room open. A horrible sight met his eyes. Almost in the middle of the floor lay the dead body of the eldest boy, Edward, in a pool of blood. Partly in the closet lay-Mrs. Seguin, grasping in her right, hand a pearlseguin, grasping in her right hand a pearl-Seguin, grasping in her right hand a pearlhandled revolver. Inside the closet lay the boy John and the girl Jeannette. There could be no doubt the mother had taken them into the room under the pretense of playing blind man's buff. She had led the two youngest into the closet and locked them up, while she murdered the oldest boy. The pistol with which he was shot was a target-practice weapon, with a barrel eleven inches long. It lay beside him and the bullet lay on the floor. It on, with a barrel eleven inches long. It lay eside him and the bullet lay on the floor. It had passed through his head. The maniac mother then proceeded to the closet, and with a thirty-two calibre revolver, with which she afterwards blew out her own brains, shot the other two children. Dr. Amiden cut the strings that bound the children's hands and strings that bound the laid them on the bed.

The police and the coroner were notified at once. Nothing was found in the room to ex-plain the motive for the terrible crime. The maniac had held the weapon close to her victims' heads, for the handkerchief on their faces had been burned. The face of the little girl wore a look of innocent surprise, that cut more deeply than any other feature of the dreadful deed. On the table lay a box of car-tridges and a third pistol. Dr. Seguin, when he returned, was taken to his office and phy-sicians summoned. He acted as though his faculties were gone. He caught sight of a picture of the children on the wall and broke into a horrible cry that wrung the hearts of the listeners. The physicians fear he will lose his reason. None of the servants heard any noise. Sudden insanity is the only mo-tive known for the deed. Mrs. Seguin was neatly dressed. The children were little things and all the family she had

The coroner's inquest upon the bodies developed the fact that Mrs. Seguin, for some time before she killed her children and her-self, has been very melancholy, and had acted strangely. Just before the tragedy occurred she sent the nurse and the hall boy out of the house upon errands. The children were shot each in the left temple, and Mrs. Seguin in her right temple. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict that the murder and suicide were committed by Mrs. Seguin while her mind was temporarily Mr. Seguin is seriously ill at the

His wife, thinking it unsafe to keep money in the house after that, took the re-mainder, amounting to several hundred dol-lars, and dividing it into several parcels of four or five hundred dollars each, buried them in as many places where no one but herself could find it. Soon thereafter she sickened and died before telling where she had hid the money. One of the parcels was buried in the smoke-house. A few weeks since the old gen-tleman hired his so.-in-law to clean out the smoke-house, and he in return engaged a negro to assist him. Collecting Under Difficulties.

rom the Savanah Ga., Recorder. Early this morning a dispute arose at the market dock between a wagoner and another colored man for whom he hauled a load of country produce to the market. The conten-tion arose about a lack of ten cents in the drayage which the South Carolina agricultur-ist insisted was over the market price for haul-ing, and refused to give him another nickel. In order to satisfy himself and "get square" with country, the teamster said he would take it out with his whip. This latter threat was seemingly most opportune to the Carolina darkey, and seizing a whip from the hands of another jehu near by, he announced himself as ready for the castigation, politely informing his opponent that "I will meet you half way to give you your change." They went to work with their whips on each other and were just warming up to thein work when a coon on the top of the hill intimated that a policeman was approaching, which started the whipsters, one up the hill with his wagon and the other into his boat.

A day later there was an entertainment in the city. By invitation of a male friend he attended. They were introduced. They conversed. An affinity developed into something deeper, fuller. To-day they are unhappy when not together. Let us anticipate. Three months hence they will rememer each other as acquaintances from whose society they each derived pleasure, but should they never meet again there will be no gaping heart wounds to mar the remainder of their lives.

The election of Messrs Boynton and Gar rard to preside over the senate and house was a deserved compliment to her faithful public servants and capable officers. Messrs DuBignon and Rankin, who retired in their favor, made gallant races, and each had a strong and enthusiastic following. I assume the high trust you have placed in my hands with a sincere feeling that however hard I may try to discharge its important and responsible duties, I may fall short in many instances, but I will enter upon my duties with a consciousness that I have the confidence of this body, and while differences of opinion may arise between us, believe me that my errors, if any, will be unintentional.

We are assembled here as the representatives of a great state and every measure brought before us for our consideration should be seriously and earnestly considered. Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: Ac

I see before me a body of representatives who sideration should be seriously and earnestly considered.

I see before me a body of representatives who believe are the equals in every respect of any that has ever assembled in this house. Some of you have grown gray in the service of your state. Others are just entering into a mature state of manhood. All of you, I believe, have the integest of Georgia at heart. Now how can we best serve our state and repay her people for the confidence manifested in sending us here, is the quesion we have to solve. I trust the solution will meet the expectations of all concerned. I might speak to you at greater length, and with pleasure to myself, but you are here to work and not to hear me speak. You will pardon me for a few words in regard to the business before us. I can say them at this time without being considered personal. Within our constitution the length of the session of the legislature is limited to forty days, unless extended by a twe-thirds vote-of both houses. I know the proneness with which we follow precedents, but I trust in the length of the session of the legislature is limited to forty days, unless extended by a twe-thirds vote-of both houses. I know the proneness with which we follow precedents, but I trust nothing will arise to prevent our finishing our duties within the constitutional limit. In the last two legislatures it was necessary to extend the session because laws had to be enacted to carry into effect a new constitution. Most of this work has been done, and I believe that if we will move forward, by strict attention to business and a loss of no unnecessary time, we may finish our labors in forty days. If we do our best to accomplish this end, a generous people will be slow to find fault should more time be needed to perform their work. My experience has been that if legislatures worked as hard during the whole session as they do in the last fews days of a session that wonders could be accomplished in forty days.

I am sure you will do your full duty, and your presiding officer will try to do h the compliment of a unanimous election.

Mr. Falligant, of Chatham, nominated Mr.

A resolution notifying the governor of the rganization was adopted.
Official notice was given that the seat of Mr Wilder, of Decatur, would be contested by Mr. J. O. Farnell, a former member of the house, and that the seat of Mr. D. R. Mr. Farnell subsequently an nounced that he was not going to contest the seat of Mr. Wilder, but Mr. Wilson announces

The process was slow and it was a long time before the members were settled in the seats they are to make famous during this session. VALUABLE.

Denver, Col., August 29, 1882.

Gents—I cannot find words with which to express my gratitude to you for the cure your Swift's Specific has effected in my case. I was afflicted with the horrible blood disease for three years, and after spending some time at the Hot Springs, considered my case a hopeless one.

I used only one dozen small bottles of S SS and there is not a sign of the disease remaining. My sares are all kealed, my throat is entirely well, and I am rid of the terrible monster.

Being a drug clerk, I have seen so many hundreds of men dosed with calomel, iodide of meroury and iodide of potash, until they were made complete wrecks, that I shudder to think of the misery which has been brought on the human family by the use of mercurials for blood disease. It is a crying shame that physicians will not acknowledge the merit of your GRAND Blood Medicine. Use my name as you wish. I refer you to my present employers, or to Messrs. Colling Bros, St Louis.

WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND.

It is well known to physicians, and alast too well are subject to numerous diseases peculiar to their sex, such as suppression of the Menses, paintia and scanty Menstruation, Congestion, Cicration and Falling of the Womb, attended with an endless train of sympathetic and constitutional disor-ders, which embitters the whole life, and which have long been considered as almost incurable. But at last the remedy has been found in

THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 2, 1882.

THE signal service bureau report indicates for the south Atlantic and east gulf states: Partly cloudy weather and occasional rain variable winds, stationary temperature and GOVERNOR COLQUITT is certainly indebted to his enemies for his success in the senatorial race. The repeated and unjust assaults or him are certainly calculated to result in his election, if there was any doubt about the re ult before.

THE registration of votes in New York and Brooklyn is immense: and it does not stand to reason that it is the republicans who are so anxious this year to get to the polls. Some predict that Cleveland's majority will be nearer 100,000 than 50,000.

SEVENTEEN thousand new names were added to the pension list last year, and there are ten times that number of claimants whose petitions are on file. The pension burden has already cost the country $560,000,000, and the charge will soon outrun the interest on the national debt.

THE money-order system yielded a net revenue last year of $165,030. The government should not transact a banking business at a profit, and congress will do well to reduce the fees on money orders until the system is bare ly self-sustaining. At present it is not simply a public convenience. It is a part of our over grown system of taxation.

THE debt reduction last month was some thing over fifteen millions dollars, and yet a good many of the republican papers and correspondents are endeavoring to show that there will not be much of a surplus this year. The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette attempts to show in a formidable array of figures that "the real actual net surplus revenue of the United States for the current fiscal year, after setting apart in the treasury the money appropriated for specific purposes and making allowances for the interest on the public debt, will, in point of fact, be about $12,000,000." In the light of the latest debt statement it is charitable to conclude that the correspondent dropped a cipher.

THE state department has recently pub lished a large volume filled with reports on the manufacture of cotton goods in Europe. The volume consists of reports made by our consuls in Great Britain, and the other cotton manufacturing countries in Europe. appears from these reports that England alope makes more by turncotton into cloth than our we do by raising it. Many of the largest acturers in the old world are convinced and weave cotton to the best advantage, and some of them do not hesitate to predict that the cotton country will soon become the chief producer of cotton cloth.

THE LEGISLATURE.

It is only necessary to remind our readers that we called attention more than three weeks ago to the fact that Hon. J. S. Boynton, president of the senate, and Hon. L. F. Garrard, speaker of the house, would be elected. We gave it prominence at the time because it was our duty to publish anything that would be information to our readers. We claim no credit for the election of these gentlemen. They are worthy men and de serve the places. We were satisfied at the time we made the statement, from informareceived from all parts the state, that they prominent and almost certain to be elected to the offices they aspired to. THE CONSTITUTION has in the present general assembly eleven of its regular correspondents who were elected as members of the present general assembly. They come from different parts of state and they, with our other numerous correspondents over the state, keep us informed as to the news. It is our duty to keep our readers informed, and we do so to the best of our ability. Sometimes the news does not suit all who read it, but we cannot be blamed for that. We give the news as we get it and as quickly as possible after we receive it. We desire to let it be understood that when we stated that Governor Colquitt would be elected United States senator, we wrote deliberately, and we merely wish to add now that his vote has been increased since our last statement on this subject and his election is certain. Let any man who doubts it wait for the result and it will be ascertained.

GOVERNOR COLQUITT AND PETE ALEX-

ANDER. We wrint in another column an interview with Governor Colquitt and Governor Brown, denying certain charges or insinuations brought against them by Mr. W. Alexander. We add nothing to what they have said. We have no comment for their reply, which is complete and thorough. But there are some things suggested by the conduct of the cam paign against Governor Colquitt that the present occasion makes timely.

The campaign will fail for two reasons, if for no others. In the first place the und ubted plan is to bring out candidates in every section of the state, gather about each candi date such local strength as he may have, and all them proportion the be cast for Governor Colquitt." a fair-

Four gentlemen, Governor Stephens, General Lawton, Mr. Black and Coionel N. J. Hammond, are understood to have already declined to allow their names used in such connection. It is said our friends. that one of the two gentlemen now in the field will not consent to remain in the field for the simple purpose of gratifying the personal resentment of a few men. Even if the candidates could be secured there could not be found many members who would agree to be transferred from one candidate to another at the call of the man who was "bossing the combination.

In the second place the intemperate abus of Governor Colquitt and his friends adopted by the anti-Colquitt leaders not win. It only makes his friends more determined, and all fair-minded men feel kindlier toward him. Take for example the very matter we are considering this morning. When was a more astounding insinuation ever made against a governor and his supporters, than that they had deliberately bar ered and sold out a democratic district, trayed their home congressman, and deliverng the capital district, or partially delivered it, into the hands of the opposition. And when was ever insinuation met with a fairer or squarer answer? Let us look at the facts of Governor Colquitt's case!

He leaves the executive office to-morrow. He lays off the robes of office as spotless as he took them up. He has given the state two adninistrations, unsurpassed in integrity, and unapproached in their splendid results. He leaves the democratic party, with a majority as large as it had when he became its official head. Even as he leaves the capitol, there is every probability that the two independent districts will wheel into line, and the independents in two other districts have just grounded their arms. And yet this man is met at the conclusion of a work that is a glory and an honor to Georgia, with the most violent abuse and denunciation, from men whose whole work for the past several years appears to have been to tear down rather than to build up, and to divide rather than narmonize. Colonel Alexander himself leaves a district democracy that is struggling with a most powerful opposition and that needs the voice and vote and ener gies of every democrat that lives within its jurisdiction, to break down a man whose work in the democratic ranks has been consistent and conspicuous. He has not one word of cheer for the fighting democrats of his home district, nor did w hear of his uttering one word in the past gub ernatorial election, but he is willing to work night and day, and to talk all the time to de stroy the influence of a man who has been all his life a working democrat.

Such tactics will not win in Georgia. They have been tried and bave failed time and again We have taken no part in this senatorial contest, further than to declare the situation as we saw it, and to defend Governor Colquitt nom assaults that were manifestly unjust and mproper. We said weeks ago that his election was assured. We are more confident now than ever. If there were nothing else to as sure it than the peculiar policy of his opponents, that would be enough. They hate him too bitterly to be reasonable, and they are too mad to be careful. It will be a cold day when the great democratic party of Georgia lends itself to a few violent men, as a too with which to work their petty resentments And there doesn't appear to be any very cold weather in sight.

COTTON SEED OIL.

Consul Crain has been investigating the transformation of cotton seed oil into olive oil. This Italian process was carried to such that the south is the place in which to spin an extent that nearly all the "olive oil" imported into the United States in bottles of foreign make bearing fine French labels contain ed cotton seed oil, "mixed possibly with some genuine olive oil." We have long had similar reports, but now we are officially informed that we have been purchasing our own cotton seed oil, paying it several prices on account of the travel and handling it experienced after it left America. The statistics of the Italian ports-the official statistics, that is-show the use to which our innocent product has been put. In order to protect the olive-oil indus try the Italian government imposed a duty of 14 lire per 100 pounds upon cotton-seed oil. This duty went into full effect at the beginning of this year, and the following table shows that there is a mysterious connection between the products of the olive and of cotton seed:

in the two first months of this year, was due more than all else to the fact that the native oil will not sell in foreign markets unless it s mixed with cotton-seed oil-in other words that the native oil is inferior to the cotton seed product, and foreign buyers do not want the genuine article. Consul Crain is on the ground, and it is to be presumed that he has horoughly investigated the subject that he has officially laid before the department and the people of this country. These facts are not astonishing. Cottonseed oil is a product that will become more valuable the better it becomes known, and it should not be without friends in its own country. We should not be, for example, ashamed to use it under its own name, and to commend its use in home-made bottles and under honest labels to other countries Last year this country imported 216,788 gallons of olive oil, paying a duty of one dollar per gallon, and the best opinion is that a good part of it was cotton-seed oil. If a flavor of olive oil is desired. a good business could be done by importing the flavor and doing the mixing where the bulk of the compound is extracted. But this, of course, presupposes that foreign bottles and foreign labels will no longer be necessary to render the international product palatable.

GEORGIA POLITICS.

ON THE SURFACE AND BELOW THE SURFACE.

What the Leading Politicians of the State are Doing e People-The Seventh and Nin-sional Districts-The State in General-Letters from Well Known Men.

On day before yesterday Colonel Peter Alexander's Atlanta letter to the Macon Telegraph contained an italicised announcement that some very im-portant disclosures would be made in the senatorial race in his next letter. His letter of yesterday con tained the following matter under the following head: "The Gang Fully Exposed; Farrow, Buck and Clarke and Joe Brown Actively at Work in Colquitt's Interest-What it Means-The Defeat of ATLANTA, November 1.—The important matter referred to in my letter of yesterday, as having just been communicated to me, is bound to exert no little influence upon the final result of the senatorial contest. Yesterday it was rumor; to-day it is fact, and may be so regarded, since it comes to me from the highest authority. It is this: Colonel Farrow, the chief republican manager in this state: Mr. An drew Clark, late of the infernal revenue department; Mr. Euck, republican candidate for congress in this district, and other members of that party, are actively engaged in the support of Governor Colquitt for the United States senate. There are a few republicans in the legislature—how many, I do not Colquitt Assured."

Colquitt Assured."

ively engaged in the support of the United States senate. There are a few republicans in the legislature—how many, I do not know; and the object of this movement is to secure their votes for Governor Colquitt!

What influence this maneuver will have upon the election of congressman in this district remains to be seen. That it will have a damaging effect upon Mr. Hammond's vote, there need be no doubt, since no sensible man can believe that these willy republican leaders, and especially Mr. Buck, would take the field for the official head of the organized democracy, which they are fighting with such desperation in all other contests in this state, unless they are to receive some political benefit in return. It is not believed that they are doing this thing for money—not a talk; nor is it believed that these turn. It is not believed that they are doing this thing for money-mot at all; nor is it believed that these men would take this step without the approval of the national republican campaign committee, in cluding Hubbell and the great northern railway syndicates who furnish the sinews of war, and who are anxious to get control of the senate, and eventually of the supreme court, for their own selfish purposes.

Wh-t, then, is the consideration which these re publican allies of Governor Colquitt—whom Senator Brown is marshaling to his support—are to receive for their labors? Is Mr. Buck to receive democratic aid and support in the congressional race in his district? Is Mr. Harmond to suffer the Colquitt may win? It means something, and inot this, what then does it mean? Have we indeed entered upon an era of political bargain and orruy not this, what then does it mean? Have we indee entered upon an era of political bargain and corrution? Will the demograts of Atlanta and of this ditrict, who know Mr. Hammond and Mr. Burstand idly by and suffer this foul wrong to be don Will not the whole democratic party of Goorgia r as one man, and stamp into dust these traders a hucksterers in the highest offices within their global states of the control of the control

A Constitution reporter called on Governor witt, showed him the above extract, and as

"What have you to say of this?"

"I have to say that it is an unqualified and in nous falsehood in all its meaning and insinuati It is a part of the programme laid out by a few o compass my defeat or my ruin. Mr. Peter A under, the writer of this vile slander, has been enomous assailant of mine for years, and spared no opportunity of venting his spleen. repared for almost anything from him, but I ess this last charge astonishes me.

"Now what is this shameless charge? It is clear and plainly hinted, by a hand that is too cunn to charge it openly, that I and my friends have s out a democratic district in return for my perso advancement-that I have betrayed my party a my comrades and disgraced myself and my state, that to do this, I or my friends have conspired v Messrs. Buck, Farrow and Clark. Now, here is answer to this last and most flagrent of a series of slanders. "I assert most positively that I have never in life spoken with Messrs. Buck or Farrow or Clark to try the claim of Mr. P. W. Meldrim to sit for the first district. Mr. Meldrim had only twenty majority, and Mr. R. wils claims that errors in the count, if corrected, will elect him. The case may be very interesting. In the house it was announced that Mr. Farnell would contest the seat of Mr. Wilder, of Decatur, but he declares that he will not do so. The only coatest, therefore, will be that of A. Wilson, colored, who was in the last house, and comes now to claim the seat of Mr. D. R. Frector, of Camden. Mr. Froctor was returned by a majority of fourteen, but Wilson claims that a proper count gives him 128 majority. Wilson is a negro of good education, and has been a leader among his race in southern Georgia since the war. matters personal to myself-or on the senatorial or ongressional race indirectly or directly. I have never authorized or suggested to any friend or acquaintance to speak to either of these gentlemen on the subject of my race or on any oth subject. I have never had an intimation from either of these gentlemen on this subject or any other subject. I do not believe any friend of mine has ever spoken to either of them on the subject of and if any friend has done so, it has been without my knowledge or consent, or acquiescence. I have not the remotest idea of how either of those gentle men stand on my race. If there is any language that will more strongly express my denial of this charge or insinuation, and my utter contempt for the man who makes it the cap of his several years of misrepresentation and abuse, I want that lan guage used. Not only has the vilest abuse beer poured on my head, but my friends, and those who support me, are put under the ban, and denounced as "the gang," and charged with all sorts of im proper motives. "As to the republican votes in the legislature the governor said, "I shall be glad to get them if I can get them honestly. If they believe that I will fitly represent them in the senate and that my administration has been fair just and liberal I shall be proud of their support. But I would suffer defeat over and again, before I would dishonor myself and insult them ty offering to trade and dicker with them for a franchise that they are sworn to Governor Brown said: "It is utterly false as far as it relates to me. have never had any conversation or communication whatever with either one of these gentlemen on the senatorial race, or anything appertaining to it nd have never received any communication from them on this subject. The charge or insinuation that there is any combination or understanding whatever by my connivance or with my, knowledge with the gentlemen on the senatorial question is entirely false and without foundation. As I said before, neither I nor any one else within my knowl edge has approached either of them or been ap proached by either of them on the subject.

A senator of prominence said on yesterday: "I begin to suspect that the men that are fighting overnor Colquitt actively, are bent ondefeating him at any cost. Now I favor another aspirant for the sen storship. I shall not vote for Governor Colquitt or awormp. I shall not vote for Governor Colquitt on the first ballot, and I hope enough votes can be secured to elect the man of my choice. But if i see that Governor Colquitt leads the vote very heavily. I am not going to be one of a minority to block legislation by a prolonged struggle over it."

"What do you understand the plan to be?"

"Why, to get up candidates from every section of the state, and portion out the anti-Colquitt votes among them, strengthening the weaker ones. and among them, strengthening the weaker ones, and tying up votes by keeping local favorites in the field. If they do this they can't count on me to throw my vote around and compined on the strength of anti-Colquitt men, or to encourage factious opposition by continuing to vote against a man who is clearly and definitely the favorite candidate." But do not the friends of General Lawton and Black say that they will not enter such a race as this?"

"I understand that they do. But if men are detailed from the anti-Colquitt headquarters to vote for each of those men, that puts their names before the legislature, whether they agree to it or not. In this way they may capture some of the real friends of these gentlemen, and hold them off of Colquitt, All I have to say is that I will be a party to no such a programme, and I do not think it will command the support of the conservative members of either house. It certainly ought not to do so."

Mr. James R. Randall, in a graceful card relative the nomination for the short term, says:

As the mention of my name in connection with the short term for congress did not inspire me with any ambition as a politician, or raise any hopes in other fields of action, so the anticipated verdict of the convention brings me no disappointment or baffled desire. I am more than satisfied to have had such complimentary and pleasing an abandon-ment to old haunts and old functions, where my powers, such as they may be, are at least expert and familiar. I most cheerfully yield to Mr. Reese the graver responsibilities of the position he has gained, and in which he will require the loyal upholding, of all our hands. I trust that his career will be prosperous, useful and happy, as becomes the successor of Alexander H. Stephens. From the Savannah News.

An Atlanta correspondent states that the enemies of Governor Colquitt are doing all they can to compass his defeat for the United States senate. Of course, the friends of any special candidate for that high position have a perfect right to advocate and work as heartily as they please for the success of their special favorite; but if they are making the contest on the "anything-to-beat Colquitt" principle, it is all totally and entirely wrong. It should be remembered that this same principle was what actuated the democratic convention two years ago, and it signally failed. No candidate ought to allow himself to be used simply to defeat any other. His own success is all that his friends and himself should desire.

ATLANTA PARLOR MINSTRELS.

The young men composing the Atlanta Parlor Minstrels, after their successful inaugural performance, gave a matinee to a fine house resterday after noon. The first part of the programme was rendered even better than the night before. It was arranged by Mr. D. P. Byers, whose skill and taste have been of great service to the company. Among its best features was the song by Mr. J. A Duls—"Pretty Little Eyes of Blue"—of which he wrote the words and Mr. Henry Robson set them to music, dedicating the song to the little daughter of Mr. W. H. Venable. After Mr. Duls had sung the pretty little miss tripped on the stage and presented the minstrel with a handsome basket of flowers. The entire programme was carried through without an error, giving an entertainmen up to a good standard. Bostick, Holland, Jones, Robson, the quartette, the "Big 6" dancers, and all the young men, in fact, did remarkably well. They have several invitations to appear in different cities in the state, and may do so soon.

Editors Constitution; Will you permit me to say our people have a deep interest in the question as to what citizen shall fill the office of senator for the short term expiring March 4th, 1883? It seems to be conceded that none of the gentiemen aspiring to the long term will ask to be elected to the short term left for somebody by the death of the late Senator Hill. In other words, it seems to be conceded all round that the legislature will bestow—and right royally too—a compliment on some citizen of Georgia by electing him to the short term. A sentiment appears to be dominating all minds, and a sentiment pure and simple. The sentiment is that the legislature can here compliment a deserve ing citizen, without at all affecting the position of Georgia in the senate for the next six years. And it is true. The Hon. Pope Barrow can be thus complimented, or Benjamin H. Hill, Jr.. can be comcomplimented, and the legislature willact gracefully in complimenting either. But why one more than the other? The writer knows that both these gentlemen are fitted, and indeed they are both about equal morally and intellectually. But young Ben Hill represents a sentiment that Pope Barrow does not. The elder Hill did a great dea for Georgia! Were he alive Georgians could scarcely do enough to testify their gratitude to him. Being dead, base minds may suggest the occasion for the indulgence of gratitude, or any gentle sentiment is passed. Such persons might have better ground to stand on, if there was any disparity between Ben Hill, Jr., and Pope Barrow, as to make the election of the former accountable for only on the ground of sentiment. Ben Hill, Jr., has made one of the best solicitor sigeneral this judicial district ever had. He has a spotless private and professional record. Every man who has been in contact with him and had an opportunity of judiging his worth and ability, respects and admires, I had like to have said, reveres, but certai

A REMARKABLE CASE

Twenty-two Children by One Wife, Tw Whom are Still Living. Mr. Johnston, a grocer on Marietta street is in some respects one of the most remark able men in Georgia. In the first place he is able men in Georgia. In the first place he is a remarkable specimen of physical manhood, being six feet, four inches high and though fifty-five years old, as strong and active as most men of thirty. He is a second cousin of General Joseph E. Johnston and was in the confederate service with the rank of captain. As the father of a family Mr. Johnston presents a truly remarkable record. He has been married only once and his wife is now living and in excellent health. By Mr. Johnston she has had twenty-two children the youngest of whom is a baby now. Of the twenty-two all except one is now living and all are well formed, healthy specimens. A happier family cannot be found in the city of Atlanta. They all bear a striking family resemblance. STOPPED BY A LAND SLIDE.

An Air-Line Passenger Train is Telescoped in Deep Cut.

The Air-Line passenger train which left Atlanta Tuesday afternoon at two o'olock and forty minutes, ran into a land slide in a deep cut just eighty six miles above this city. The train was in charge of Conductor Chandler with Engineer Dunlap upon the engine, and was running at schedule speed when the accident occurred. There was quite an amount of dirt on the track and the engine was stopped so quickly and suddenly that the postal car was split in two by the force with which it struck the tender. The engine and tender were piled upon each other, and were terribly broken up, while the mail coach was almost wholly demolished. Engineer Dunlap was injured about the legs, while his fireman sustained some slight bruises, but neither was seriously hurt.

In the mail coach there were two postal clerks, both of whom suffered severely. Mr. S. N. Dyke, the head clerk, was horribly gashed about the head and face, his nose was broken and his face greatly disfigured. In addition to these injuries he was internally hurt. Mr. Ramsanr.

the second clerk, was more fortunate and escaped with less severe though not less painful injuries. His right arm was dislocated and his back badly hurt.

The accident happened about half past nine o'clock and so compietely blockaded the track that the passengers on the Atlanta bound train were transferred to a train this side of the wreck and brought on to Atlanta, where the wreck and brought on to Atlanta, where they arrived at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, instead of 12 o'clock the previous night, the scedule time. The injured parties were given every attention or their trip down the road, and are all at their homes in this city, doing as well as their injuries will permit.

Elder Harrison Jones, of Coweta county, gave an interesting account of his labors, which gave a hearty assurance that Mr. Jones was a alous worker in the vineyard of the Lord.

DR. ERRETT'S SERMON.

It having been previously announced that Dr. Errett, of Cincinnati, would preach last night, quite a large crowd assembled in the church on Hunter street to hear him. Dr. Errett is an author of some note and the editor of the Christian Standard, a page of 30 600 subscribers and the leading a paper of 30,000 subscribers, and the leading journal of his church in the United States.

The sermon was both eloquent and instructive, and we would be delighted to give a synopsis of it, but circumstances forbid. In-deed, to be appreciated this learned divine must be heard. He will preach again to night, commencing at 7½ o'clock, at the Hunter street church.

REPAIRING THE CAPITOL.

HEAVY EXPENDITURE OF MONEY ON THE BUILDING.

on Thousand Dollars Put Into Paint, Paper and Kalsomining, Braces, Etc.—Some Much Needed Repairs at the Treasury—Georgia's Safe and the Way Her Money is Kept.

The repairs on the old capitol building are about finished. There were two or three men busy in the hall of the house of representatives up to Tuesday night, dusting off the chairs and desks, that everything might be in readiness for the meeting of the legislature yesterday. When the work was first begun The Constitution published a full statement of what it was proposed to do. The plan then set forth has been followed out. A new roof has been put on and the roof has been securely braced with iron rods. The building has been replastered wherever it was necessary, and has been whitewashed in some of the plastered rooms, and in others it has been kalsomined or papered. Both halls have been kalsomined The governor's suite of rooms and several other offices, including the rooms of the department of agriculture, have been papered, and present a somewhat improved appearance. Carpets have been put down in the senate chamber and in the room of the paesident of the senate.

In the hall of the house of representatives a new matting has been put down and a new carpet has been put around the speaker's stand. The outside of the building has been repainted and penciled, and presents the appearance of a new building. The rear wall has been braced and the clock tower has been repaired. The clock has been given a new dial and hands and repairs have been made on the machinery. There are other repairs of minor importance and the total bill will amount to about seven thousand dollars on the building repairs, which is three thousand less than the repairs, which is three thousand less than the appropriation. There are other repairs, however, that may consume the balance of the appropriation

REPAIRS AT THE TREASURY Some much needed repairs have lately been made in the treasurer's office. Since the last session of the legislature a fire and burglar proof safe and vault have been purchased and put in. Letely a handsome desk surmounted by an iron railing, has been placed between the vault and the door. Another railing has been run from this desk to the door of the back room of the office, and at the front is a cast iron door that is to be then the control of the back room of the office, and at the front is a cast iron door that is to be then beginning the control of the back room of the office, and at the front is a cast iron door that is to be then beginning the control of the back room of the office, and at the front is a cast iron door that is to be then beginning the control of the control of the back room of the office, and at the front is a cast iron door that is to be at the front is a cast fron door that is to be kept locked. So that persons who go into the office to transact business will not be allowed behind the counter, and will transact their business at a small window as they do in banks. When it is remembered that the vault contains a very large amount of cash and valuable securities and that desperate robberies are sometimes attempted where a are sometimes attempted where a good opportunity is offered, this precaution is considered timely, as at present arranged, it would be a difficult matter for a robber to get into the safe and get away with anything during business hours, and still more difficult to make a successful burglary at night. The safe is very heavy, and is supplied with three combination locks, each independent of the other. On top of the three is the chronometer lock The vault lining is very heavy, and on the doors of the vault, three in number, are two of Herring's most powerful combination locks, each different from the other, and on the outside door is an independent combina-tion lock of the most improved pattern. The time lock is set going at four in the afternoon and runs until nine the next morning, and and runs until nine the next morning, and during that time neither the treasurer nor his assistant can unlock the safe. The safe was bought for $1,625 in cash, and the old safe and the vault cost $4,975. The other repairs, including carpets, etc., will amount to $500, for all of which special appropriations were made by the last legislature. were made by the last legislature

Thompson's Restaurant and Ladles' Dining Roo Thompson's Restaurant and Ladles' Dialog Rooms.
Mr. Thompson has had an ambition to establish a first-class restaurant in Atlanta, and the liberal patronage extended him not only by the people of Atlanta but all over the state, is evidence conclusive of his success. He is better prepared than ever to furnish meals of the best, both of substantials, but also of delicacies, which the markets afford, and so prepared as to give satisfaction. In connection with his restaurant, but entirely separate frem it, he has several dining rooms, neatly furnished, and presided over by Mrs. Thompson. They are quiet, retired, and provided with every home comfort, and ladies need not hesitate at any hour to visit them for lunch or meals. Nogentlemen (and there are no exceptions) are permitted to enter these rooms unless accompanied by ladies, and ladies should not feel the least delicacy ladies, and ladies sh ould not feel the least delicac; ingoing there. Mr. Thompson has long seen the want of some respectable, well conducted place for laddes to got meals or lunch, while out visiting, shopping or walking, and has determined to supply this want. We feel satisfied that a liberal patronage will reward his effort.

Armstrong's Minatrels.

The above organization will appear at DeGive's opera house to-night. The company is composed of twenty artists, embracing Billy Armstrong, the negro impersonator, Frank Bell, the burlesque orator. Meally, the musical wonder, the Powers brothers, Gibbons, Davenport, Pettingill and others of note. In speaking of their performances, the Augusta News says: "Armstrong's minstrels drew a packed house last night, it being their first appearance in Augusta. That the audience was highly delighted was manifest from the rounds of applause which greeted the players from first to last. There is some splendid talent connected with the show, and the entertainment furnished gave the best satisfaction. They went from here to Savannah, and wherever they may exhibit we can promise the listeners a splendid entertainment."

Money Bags

This amusing comedy, written by J. W. Shannon, author of "Champagne and Oysters," "Bougnets and Bombshells," "Golden Game," "Dollars," etc., will be produced at DeGive's opera house Friday and Saturday, with matinee Saturday afternoon. It is witty and crisp. Edward Lamb, as Young Money Bags, and J. W. Shannon as Old Money Eags, are naking the play a great success. There is no feature the least objectionable in the play but plenty to produce amusement and laughter.
